The Magick Circle (And Why You Must Create Your Own)

I've already explained what rituals are on a previous page. I am assuming you are a wiccan beginner, so I am going to tell you all about your Magick circle.

Listen up because this is extremely important. You will be Casting a Magick circle before every ritual (and almost every spell) you ever do.

Not only will the Magick energy sent out be more powerful if you build it up within the circle, but the circle itself will protect you from negative thoughts and energies while you do your Magick spell work. As a beginning witchcraft practitioner this is the first thing you should get comfortable with.

You created a non-physical circle when creating your internal sacred space, and a physical circle when you made your external sacred space.

For the purposes of rituals and spells, we will be focusing on casting your circle on the physical circle you created in your sacred space (around your altar).

Even if the circle around your altar is permanent, it is important to "re-cast" it each time you do a ritual or a spell.

There are some spells that don't require the use of a Magick circle (and some that don't even require you to be in your sacred space by your altar), but in most cases you will need to do all spell work in the confines of your Magick circle.

Casting a Magick circle is one of the most important things you will do on your path in Witchcraft. Your circle offers power for spells, and protection from evil energies. You will cast a circle almost every time you do Magick work (which is sometimes every single day). Even non-beginners in Wicca do this simple practice every time.

If your focus is not in the right place when you cast a circle, any Magick you do can be ineffective – and what's worse, you can leave yourself open to negative energies tainting everything you do. That's why it is so important to cast a circle in the right way, and you have an advantage as a beginner. You can start with a "clean slate" in Wicca, and will learn to do it right the first time.

I would like to take you by the hand, through every single step of casting your Magick circle in the Home Academy. Not only will I provide full illustrations, along with the detailed steps, but you will be able to watch the casting of a circle in the DVD's. Make sure to follow along, and take the advice as it is given.

This is one of the most important steps in your Magick journey, and soon it will be as natural as breathing.

Your Daily Devotions

When you follow a Magick path, your success in that path depends on your ability to focus charged energies, and send them out into the universe to get whatever you desire.

If you ignore your connection to Magick energy, it will weaken – as will your power.

“Daily devotions” are things you do on a daily basis to strengthen the ability to control your inner Magick energy. A devotional routine helps to raise the energy daily, at various times.

Think of daily devotionals as short rituals of energy. They strengthen your connection, and also bring positive energies into your life.

Above all else you want to pick a routine that is right for you – and follow it every single day!

You can do all of your chosen devotionals at one time, or you can spread them out through the day. Find something that works within your schedule, and follow it.

Your devotionals can be anything that brings positive emotion into your heart. It can be something as simple as making diary entries into your Book of Shadows every night before bed. In your Book of Shadows, keep track of where negative patterns are in your life, and work to build on the positive ones in your mind – and in the Book of Shadows.

Another devotional “mini” ritual you can follow is to spend at least a few minutes breathing, meditating, and visualizing positive things to create positive energy in your life. You can even use the meditation exercise that I gave you previously in this book.

Here are a list of some devotionals that you can do every day. There is not a need to do all of them, but pick ones that you feel most comfortable with:

Morning wake-up devotional
Connecting to the Lord and Lady

Connecting to the Divine, Infinite Energy
Greeting Devotionals to the Spirits or Elements around you
Connecting to Nature and the Earth Mother
Journaling
Food Blessing Devotional
Breathing
Meditation
Visualization Exercises
Playing with Energy

Remember, none of the devotionals you do should tire you out. And you should never be in a situation where you “dread” doing them. You should look forward to them – so make sure you select ones that work best for you.

Most of the devotionals above are self-explanatory, and you can “create” these devotionals any way that you wish. There are no “hard and fast rules” when doing your daily devotionals. (I demonstrate some of them in the Witchcraft Academy In-A-Box)

For now, I will walk you through the simple but powerful “Playing with Energy” daily devotional.

Step 1:

Sit in a comfortable position, and begin the basics of the meditation exercise from earlier in this book. Once you have dropped into the stage of slowing your breathing, open your eyes.

Step 2:

Take your hands, palms facing, and briskly rub them together. While you are doing this, start calling the energy from around you into your body. Hold your hands out in front of you, palms facing each other, about twelve to eighteen inches from your face. This works best if you have a solid, dark background in the direction you are facing.

Focus first on your hands, and sending the energy in your body out the palms. When you feel the flow is good and strong, shift your focus to just past your hands, at a point on the background beyond them. Can you see the ethereal, nebulous energy between the palms? It may take some time for you to see it, but keep working at it, you will. Once you can see the energy there, concentrate on making it brighter and darker, increasing the flows and lessening the flows. Keep playing with the energy on a regular basis, until you get comfortable with how to manipulate it to do what you want it to do.

Step 3:

Once you have reached that point, start playing further with the energy. Form it into a ball, move your hands closer and further apart, seeing the ball change in size and intensity.

As you get the hang of each one (over days, not minutes!), try different shapes and sizes. Play with the energy and get comfortable with its existence. This is the same energy you use in order to cast magick. Seeing it in solid form, even if there is still an ethereal quality to it, helps to strengthen your belief, and raise your levels of energy even higher.
